THEME: COMMUNITY ACTION TOWARD CULTURE AND LANGUAGE PRESERVATION IN AFRICA : HOW TO FORGE AHEAD

INTRODUCTION

There is a growing concern in various circles regarding the erosion of African culture including its moral values, indigenous knowledge systems, language diversities and traditional practices. The phenomenon of globalization compounds issues, as dominant global economic and technological structures accelerate African cultural demise. Resultantly, the continent's political, social, economic and cultural life has been unstable, speedily losing that identifiable pattern and character that guarantees sustainable future. Yet the continent is pregnant with abundant human and natural resources which for ages have placed the continent at an enviable vintage point of the globe. It is in the face of these worrying phenomena that a two-day cultural exchange forum has been organized, for dialogue towards culture and language preservation in Africa.

OBJECTIVES AND SCOPE

The 2024 cultural exchange forum will bring key stakeholders together for dialogue towards unearthing prolific strategies for culture and language preservation in Africa, specifically focusing on issues of linguistic diversities, African traditional practices in agriculture, health, medicines, education, leadership, gender roles and community moral values and principles.
